In college, I got wet by rain, became sleepy, and became bored. Spend quality time with jesintha sister. The previous week was fine, but this week felt a little dull😑.

It was a lot of fun using the phone, especially when I was alone in class. In fact, mobile phones are not permitted at my college😅.

I was still interested in fashion technology. Although it was my interest, I enrolled in B.SC computer science. I never lost interest in doing FT. If I became a designer, Prici would be my first model😁.

Pradeep enrolled in an Engineering college. I was overjoyed that my friend studying in Engineering college, and I, too, was looking forward to his first day. But he complained that it was tedious🤭.

It was our first microprocessor lab, everyone had gone, and I was the only one in class. VP Mam used to ask about me. Mam was far too generous to me😍.

“As I step into the realm of college, I embrace the unknown, ready to forge my path, make new discoveries, and create lasting connections that will shape my future.”
